

ORA & BOULEAU

Jean Damien
BADOUX

Jean Damien Badoux is a self taught designer born in 1984 in Lyon. His 10 years of experience in high performing composites material in aeronautics and his knowledge of specific building processes allow him to work raw material in the finest way.

He created his first book shelf in his living room in 2009, and opened his workshop in the North of Lyon in 2013.

His creations, full of poetry, are all handmade. Realising unique or small series furnitures signed and numbered. His main inspiration sources are nature and movement. For this, the craftsman mixes cabinet making tradition and innovation inherited from aeronautics.

The creator makes of each piece a new technical and aesthetic challenge, pushing the limits of design back to keep the original intact idea.

« I aspire to create pieces that go beyond their functions and create emotions. I only use material where necessary to obtain a design as uncluttered and refined as possible. Through this, my creation tells its own story, inspired by natural elements »

After the idea stage and the first drawings, comes paper drawings and model making, the latter helping to get a better grasp of volumes and materials.

In order for his creations to bring together aesthetics and durability, Jean Damien Badoux carefully selects the timber he uses, especially birch saplings, which come straight from sustainably managed forests in Jura. Each trunk is then dried before being transformed by his hands.

All the creations are handmade by Jean Damien Badoux. His ideas express themselves in a drawing before coming alive through a model. Once the model is created and validated, the creation of the piece can start.
